Life Comes With Risks

A national study¹ found that 62.1% of bankruptcies were attributable to major medical expenses. Whether it is a critical illness, a chronic illness or even the terminal illness of a loved one, these tragedies can drain the entire family emotionally and financially.

Take Control Of Your Future Today

When illness strikes, work is lost and paychecks may be diminished or eliminated. In addition, expenses associated with hospital stays, treatment, medications, caregiver therapy and other potential medical expenses can compound your financial stress.

No one expects such events, but we can plan for them. We can help protect ourselves from the financial impact of these and other catastrophic events so that when they occur we have options that can help preserve our net worth and meet these enormous financial needs.

One way to protect these needs is through the Living Benefits provided by the American National Insurance Company's Accelerated Benefit Riders...

¹Published in 2009, The American Journal of Medicine[®] found in a survey of 2314 Americans in Bankruptcy in 2007, 62.1% filed due to medical reasons.

What is a Living Benefit?

American National Insurance Company's Living Benefits are Accelerated Benefit Riders (ABRs) which provide the option of receiving a partial or full accelerated life insurance benefit if the insured experiences a qualifying medical condition².

- Partial Acceleration is paid in lieu of a portion of the policy's death benefit.
- Full Acceleration is paid in lieu of the policy's death benefit. In the case of a full acceleration, the policy will be terminated after acceleration is paid.

The Accelerated Benefit Riders can provide funds when they are needed to help you at a critical time and help protect the money you have saved for retirement and other life needs.

²See Policy Form Number ABR14-TM, ANR14CT, ABR14-CH for a complete list of policy terms, coverage conditions and limitations. Accelerated benefits will not be paid for conditions resulting from self-inflicted injury or attempted suicide. No Accelerated Benefit will be paid for any qualifying event that occurs on or before the date of issue of the base policy.

Protection With No Additional Premium

The accelerated benefit is offered at no additional premium. However, the accelerated death benefit payment will be less than the amount of death benefit requested because it is reduced by an amount calculated based on American National's evaluation of the insured's future expected mortality at the time the benefit is exercised as well as an administrative fee of up to $500 assessed when the benefits are elected.

Benefit Limits

Maximum Policy Death Benefit Eligible for Acceleration:

- Issue Ages 0-65: $2,000,000
- Issue Ages 66 and over: $1,000,000

Policies with a death benefit higher than the maximum accelerated amounts listed above may still contain the accelerated benefit riders but will only allow partial accelerations up to the maximum benefit eligible for acceleration.

Minimum Death Benefits:

- Terminal Illness Rider: $25,000
- Critical or Chronic Illness Riders³: $50,000

Not everyone will qualify for an accelerated death benefit. Policies with death benefits below the minimums listed above will not be eligible for the rider(s)

³The chronic and critical illness versions may not be added to policies rated higher than table 4 or with flat extra rating greater than $5.00 per thousand.

We offer three separate riders covering the following conditions:

Accelerated Benefit Rider for Critical Illness

(Policy Form Series ABR14-CT):

Life requires flexibility, especially when faced with a health related life crisis. These issues can appear suddenly and may seem to surface just when we cannot afford them and put us in a bind. The Accelerated Benefit Rider for Critical Illness is there for you when a critical illness arises and to help see you through your crisis.

Eligibility⁴: insured has suffered a critical illness described in the rider, which may include heart attack, stroke, invasive cancer, etc. The sixteen covered critical illness may be found in the Rider Form or the ABR Overview, Form 10705.

Hypothetical Example:

Armando and Maria each own permanent life insurance policies with death benefits of $250,000 each.

Armando experienced a massive heart attack and was unable to return to work for several months. Maria took a temporary leave of absence from her job to help care for him.

Their financial adviser looked into their Critical Illness Rider on their life insurance policies and found that they could accelerate a portion of the death benefit from Armando's policy which would see them through this crisis without having to destroy their savings or retirement nest egg.

⁴Claims will not be processed until at least thirty days after the qualifying event has occurred.

Accelerated Benefit Rider for Chronic Illness

(Policy Form Series ABR14-CH):

What if something happened such as a serious illness or an accident that resulted in a chronic condition? Emergency funds can be depleted quickly and savings may not be far behind. Medical care is expensive and partially out of pocket. Where and who do you turn to?

The Accelerated Benefit Rider for Chronic Illness is there for you when a chronic illness arises and can help see you through your crisis.

Eligibility⁵: Insured is unable to perform two out of six activities of daily living (bathing, continence, dressing, eating, toileting, or transferring) or requires constant supervision to protect from threats to health and safety due to severe cognitive impairment.

Hypothetical Example:

Bill was diagnosed with early-onset Alzheimer's disease and Bill progressively became unable to work or stay at home alone.

Bill and his wife, Karen, asked their advisor about surrendering the policy for the accumulation value in the $500,000 permanent life insurance policy on Bill's life.

Their advisor told them that Bill's policy had an Accelerated Benefit Rider for Chronic Illness attached. If Bill met the qualifications, the rider would allow them to either settle his policy and receive an accelerated death benefit or take a portion of the death benefit now while still having part of the policy to rely upon.

After submitting the paperwork, Bill and Karen chose to accelerate 25% of the policy to help with immediate needs but still leave 75% of the death benefit to assist Karen later.

Sadly, two years later, Bill's condition worsened and they chose to accelerate an additional 50% of the remaining death benefit to cover necessary expenses and still leave a benefit to cover expected funeral expenses.

⁵The condition must exist for 90 days prior to a claim.

Accelerated Benefit Rider for Terminal Illness

(Policy Form Series ABR14-TM):

A terminal illness is devastating in so many ways. Spending your time hoping that you can beat the odds while obtaining debilitating treatment that robs you of your quality of life is incredibly stressful. At the same time you may be worrying about how you will pay for it all.

The Accelerated Benefit Rider for Terminal Illness may provide the means to help you get through the remainder of your days with dignity.

Eligibility: Insured has an illness or condition that is expected to result in death within 24 months.⁶

Hypothetical Example:

Joan found out she had pancreatic cancer and a leading cancer treatment center confirmed that she had only a few months of life remaining.

Joan was soon unable to work and was quickly running through her savings and was concerned about how she would continue to pay for her treatment.

Joan read her life insurance policy to find out how to surrender it to use the accumulation value and noticed the Accelerated Benefit Rider for Terminal Illness. She checked with the company and, after evidence of her condition was provided, she elected to receive a discounted accelerated benefit payment in settlement of her policy.

With this money, Joan was able to continue her treatments and lived sixteen additional months before she succumbed to the pancreatic cancer.

⁶Some states may limit the definition of terminal illness to conditions that are expected to result in death within 12 months.
